Monday 3 Dec
16:30 – 18:00, EU Pavilion

Energy decarbonisation & coal phase-out: financial, technological and policy drivers
Carbon Tracker is co-hosting this session alongside INNOPATHS, WWF Poland and Bankwatch. We will be looking at how finance, policy and technology can and are driving the coal phase-out from the global perspective of INNOPATHS’ and Carbon Tracker’s models, to the local, real-life examples from WWF Poland and Bankwatch.

Wednesday 5 December
11:00-12:00, Action Hub

Casting light on the merchants of doubt: debunking the myths of the energy transition
Our New Energy Strategist, Kingsmill Bond, will be debunking the myths being perpetuated by sceptics of the energy transition. In a quickfire format, Kingsmill will be explaining how and why myths such as ‘renewables are too small to matter’ are wrong, contrasting them with the reality and casting light on the merchants of doubt.

Friday 7 December
11:30 - 13:00, Venue TBC

The implications of the Paris Agreement for the EU ETS
Our Head of Research, Mark Lewis, is speaking at this side event hosted by IETA. Mark will be presenting his research on the impact of action to bring the EU ETS into line with the 2015 Paris Agreement.

Tuesday 11 December
15:00-18:00, Panda Pavilion

Investors alignment with the Paris Agreement – on track for “well-below 2C”?
Our CEO, Anthony Hobley, will speak on this panel hosted by WWF. The panel will be the first of three during a session on finance.

Wednesday 12 December
16:00 – 17:00, Action Hub

How machine learning can help phase out fossil fuels
Our Senior Analyst, Matt Gray, will be showcasing the interactive web portal which visualises the data from our global coal economics analysis. Matt will present the key findings of the analysis, demonstrate the portal and explain how we used satellite images and machine learning to gather data for often inaccessible areas, such as in China.

Thursday 13 December
11:00-12:15, UK Pavilion

Global coal economics: where are we, where do we need to go and how do we get there?
As part of the UK Pavilion’s Powering Past Coal agenda, we are hosting the launch event of our comprehensive analysis of the economics of coal power across the globe. Matt Gray will present the analysis, which will be followed by a panel bringing together voices critical to the conversation. We will also have remarks from the PPCA and Minister Claire Perry.
